To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Aadya Shakti Aggarwal, who interned with Unified Vision Capital during the summer of 2024. Over the course of 2 months, she made meaningful contributions to our Private Equity Fundraising vertical. Aadya joined us during an active fundraising phase and quickly distinguished herself as an insightful, meticulous, and intellectually curious intern.

What set Aadya apart early on was her ability to quickly grasp the nuances of the private capital ecosystem. From the outset, she took initiative in reviewing previous presentations and proposed thoughtful improvements to enhance clarity and logical flow. She also assisted in formatting slides, organizing content flow, and creating draft visuals that aligned with the broader narrative. Even as a student, she demonstrated sharp attention to detail and a strong sense of audience messaging, making her an asset to our team.

Aadya assisted in research to help us identify potential investors and understand their focus areas. She supported the development of our initial Limited Partner database by researching public sources, including firm websites, press releases, and recent fund announcements from platforms like Crunchbase and CB Insights. She collated information on past investments, sector preferences, fund sizes, going a step further by highlighting patterns or details that could be useful for targeted outreach. Aadya was especially good at identifying useful data points and presenting them in a clean, digestible way: a skill that enhanced the team's efficiency.

Aadya's contributions were crisp, relevant, and deeply analytical. She brought a fresh perspective on what matters to prospective investors, especially those with lesser technical know-how, and why, helping us craft a more compelling and investor-focused narrative. Aadya also demonstrated initiative, often asking thought-provoking questions and sharing self-driven research.

Aadya often showed a level of diligence and maturity that was well-beyond her years. She displayed commendable communication skills that facilitated the clear and concise articulation of her reasoning and often allowed for easy dissemination of information amongst other team members. Her approachable demeanour, combined with her ability to actively listen and engage with diverse perspectives, made her a valued presence within the team despite being one of the youngest members there.

Aadya's commitment, analytical prowess, and proactive approach will continue to serve her well in both her academic and professional endeavours. I am confident that she will continue to show the same passion, determination and consistency during her further studies. Please feel free to contact me should you have any questions or require further information about Aadya.

Warmly,

HR Team
